

Argentine Crisis Still Continues

General Avalos In Order Lifting Censorship On Press And Rad

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13.—(P)—War Minister Gen. Eduardo Avalos disclosed tonight that he and Navy Minister Vernengo Lima each had assumed two more top cabinet posts in the reorganization of President Edelmiro Farrell's harrassed government.

At the same time Avalos announced the lifting of press and radio censorship throughout the country.

Avalos took over the ministries of interior and finance and Rear Adm. Vernengo, sworn in only today as Navy chief, became foreign minister and minister of justice and education. Thus the six portfolios of highest responsibility were placed in the hands of the two officers who forced the ouster Tuesday of Col. Juan Peron, vice president and former war minister.

Fill Post Of Peron

Previously Farrell announced that he was retaining Commodore Edmundo Sustaita as secretary of aeronautics and Lt. Col. Mariano Abarca as secretary of industry and commerce and named Dr. Juan Fontanes as acting secretary of labor and social welfare. The last post was one vacated by Peron, now under arrest aboard a warship.

Still to be filled are the ministries of agriculture and public works, to which technical men might conceivably be named since the posts are non-political.

It was still not clear whether Farrell would survive the crisis. After the cabinet resigned yesterday, the army announced it had the resignation of the President "for use at any moment."

During the day the government commission for reorganizing political parties also resigned.

The main problem in the crisis is an impasse between political leaders and the army. The political leaders insist that the country's administration be turned over to the supreme court, and the army wants to retain power until after the elections April 7, 1946.

No violence was reported today, following last night's bloody outbreaks in which one person was killed and 35 wounded. Mounted police, however, armed with Mauser rifles, patrolled downtown streets. They normally carry rifles only in times of great emergency.

No Vital Change Over Strikes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(P)—Another day's argument over the strikes of 200,000 soft coal miners produced only this report today from Secretary of Labor Schwechenbach: "No change."

Reported mass lay-offs of steel workers—sent home because the industry's furnaces were running out of fuel—heightened tension at the parley but evidently failed to bring leaders of the United Mine Workers and bituminous operators closer together.

Schwechenbach, apparently intending to keep U. M. W. President John L. Lewis and his antagonists in conference until somebody yields adjourned the meeting until Monday evening (6 p. m. CST).

A labor department spokesman said officials are fairly well convinced that government seizure of the 900 idle mines in six states would be fruitless.

After last spring's wartime seizure the miners did not return to work for about two weeks after Secretary of the Interior Ickes took over.

Transportation Strike

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—(P)—More than a million residents of Eastern Massachusetts cities and towns were without public transportation tonight after 1,800 bus drivers and trolley operators struck for higher wages.

Only Salem was unaffected among the dozen cities and 60 or more towns served by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway. Members of the Salem local of the Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators of America (AFL) said that other locals in the Eastern Massachusetts system had failed to support them in a previous strike several months ago.

The strike began at 4 a. m. (EST) in the face of pleas from Governor Maurice J. Tobin and of international officers of the union for submission of the case to arbitration.

In Pacific

Coast Guardsman Harold DeJarnette, bearded Boatwain's Mate second class, of 1203 South Lamine avenue, Sedalia, Missouri, has seen plenty of action aboard a Coast Guard manned Army vessel operating in the Philippine sea frontier. Prior to this assignment he served aboard a Coast Guard manned invasion supply ship on which he earned the right to the Philippine liberation ribbon and bronze star. Harold is a 1942 graduate of Smith-Cotton high school, son of Mrs. Myrtle DeJarnette. He was awarded the Navy and Marine corps medal for heroism. He is believed now to be on his way home.

Symphony Presenting Young Harpist

Musicians From SAAF Again Will Play With Orchestra

Highlighted by harp music the opening concert of the season will be presented by the Sedalia Symphony orchestra and Abe Rosenthal, conductor, Monday night at 8:20 o'clock at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium, with Lois Bannerman of New York as harp soloist.

This concert will mark the beginning of the symphony's eleventh year as its able director. The orchestra has the distinction of being one of the few civic organizations of its kind, a non-commercial group. The players are banded together because of their musical interests and to present programs of appeal to music-lovers of assorted tastes.

Through each season a full range of music is offered—classical, romantic, modern and even concertized jazz. Guest artists of prominence who have appeared with the Sedalia symphony have extended high praise of the skill of the conductor and the orchestra.

The artist for Monday night's concert is a young harpist who has received plaudits wherever she has played, one critic commenting, "There can be little doubt that Lois Bannerman will be hailed within very few years as a virtuoso of the harp unsurpassed in this or any other country." Miss Bannerman will arrive in Sedalia (Please turn to Page 4, Column 4)

Reconversion Is Slowed Up Due To Strikes

Work Stoppages Hamper Post-War Progress

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(P)—Two months after the peace, Washington's warm optimism over reconversion has chilled in many official quarters because of strikes and work stoppages in basic industries.

Objective of the first month following Japanese surrender was civilian production starting and spurring ahead of schedule.

Keynote of the second month—which ends tomorrow—was production crippled in big segments of the coal, oil, steel and lumber industries, and threats of stoppages in autos, trucking, shipping and others.

Reconversion progress still was considered good, in terms of getting war debris out of factories and setting them up for output of things that boost the nation's living standard.

But today the government reported that requests for strike votes from unions would soar to about 600 in October, nearly double September's record-breaking tally of 307.

Meanwhile the administration had failed in its first big test of persuasion to settle strike cases. It resorted to the wartime expedient of seizing 50-odd refineries in 15 states to get oil and gas flowing.

And government officials discussed, but did not act upon, a proposed revision of its wage-price policy to cope with labor's nationwide outcry for 30 per cent higher wages to offset loss of wartime earnings.

Optimism Voiced

Business leaders still spoke with optimism of expansion and coming high employment. In one big survey only ten large cities saw no chance of rehiring all their laid-off war workers.

Government went ahead, too, with what it calls "de-control," or knocking the wartime shackles off the economy. On Monday these curbs go out the window:

1. The ban on construction of new homes, stores, office and hotel buildings, and public works; also, the price lid on new dwellings.

2. All remaining priorities on airplane passenger travel.

Yet the new mood of caution was reflected in most of these developments of the second peacetime month:

Rations: The government moved warily.

Meat rationing probably will continue after Nov. 1; shoes will go off the list then only if production jumps as it failed to do in September; sugar outlook unchanged.

Prices: The government held the line.

OPA clung to its policy of bringing new washers, ironers and other long-sought gadgets back at 1942 prices. Radios—3,500,000 of them by Christmas—will reach the consumer at that price level.

Wages: The government stood pat.

President Truman reaffirmed his policy of allowing general wage boosts only where no price increase results.

But aides of Reconversion Director John W. Snyder pressed him to declare for a 10 to 15 per cent increase. They say it would push prices up only 2 or 2½ per cent, that reconversion can be speeded if the government takes the lead instead of letting unions and management fight it out on the picket lines. Snyder has not budged.

Goods:

Refrigerators, washers and radios began to appear as dealers' samples. Most major auto makers were in or near production. Textiles improved, but officials began to investigate why more low-cost garments had failed to show up.

Jobs: The government was encouraged.

Unemployment climbed above the 2,000,000 mark, but 700,000 jobs were going begging as laid-off workers shopped around. About one-third of those discharged did not seek jobless pay.

Yet the government warned that high unemployment will persist through 1946 because industry cannot expand fast enough to keep up with army and navy discharges. Industry people say many war workers apparently have dropped out of the labor market, but may come back later.

Advantage Be Accorded Holders of War Bonds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(P)—Hold your war bonds and get advantage of a lower income tax rate when you eventually cash them in. That advice came today from Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee.

"It will be to the advantage of the bond holder to wait until the postwar tax rates are in effect," he said.

The War Chest Must Go On—

Whether we believe it or not, the war is not over! The shooting war, yes; the war of readjustment, no. The intense activity during actual warfare leaves no time for moodiness; but occupation and peacetime military routine can become the acme of boredom.

That is why there must be a War Fund drive even though the shooting war is over. There yet remain millions of our soldiers scattered over the globe, waiting, waiting, waiting. It is for their relief, their entertainment that such organizations as the USO, United Seaman's Service, War Prisoners Aid and others exist. The money to maintain these services for our veterans comes from the War Chest Fund.

So we have a War Chest drive and at the same time the Sedalia Community Chest drive with which we are all familiar through charitable and educational work done at home. Subscriptions in one solicitation make it easier for those who unselfishly devote their time away from business to this civic activity.

Give generously and know that because of your gift the morale of many soldiers, and sailors will be heightened during postwar service when they yearn for home and family; that local organizations, too, may continue their worthwhile functions for another year.

Files On Pearl Harbor Open Cannibalism By Japanese

Time Be Needed To Look Over The Evidence

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(P)—The government's secret files on Pearl Harbor were opened today to a Senate-House committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) announced receipt of letters from the War and Navy Department—and oral assurance from Secretary of State Byrnes—that all information the three agencies have will be made available.

Barkley said the time needed by William B. Mitchell, committee counsel, to look over the mass of evidence and draft a plan of procedure will delay public hearings by the 10-member group until early in November.

At a meeting today, the committee also put off a decision on when it will visit the scene of the surprise Japanese foray.

Secretary Forrestal wrote that the Navy "stands ready to render full assistance to the committee and its counsel, making available from its records all information material to the investigation."

Barkley interpreted this as meaning that the committee will get the full report of a naval inquiry board, part of which was suppressed when the Navy made public its findings several weeks ago.

Some senators said they learned that the suppressed portions deal largely with Japanese messages intercepted when the Navy broke Japanese diplomatic code on November 26, 1941, 11 days before the Pearl Harbor attack.

The Navy secretary designated Rear Admiral O. S. Colclough, assistant judge advocate general, to cooperate with the committee. Secretary of War Patterson picked Lt. Col. Harmon Duncombe for a similar liaison task and Byrnes named Donald Russell, assistant secretary of state, as his representative.

Hershey Leaves Large Trust Fund

HERSHEY, Pa. Oct. 13.—(P)—Milton S. Hershey, 88-year-old chocolate king-philanthropist, died today, leaving a trust fund of $84,000,000 for "the orphan boys of America."

Hershey came to this central Pennsylvania town in 1903 near the tract where he was born Sept. 13, 1857, and founded a chocolate and cocoa empire, the town of Hershey and the Hershey industrial school for orphans.

The aged philanthropist died in Hershey hospital, which he founded and gave to this model community. Cause was given by a spokesman for the Hershey estates as "due to his advanced age." He became ill Thursday night.

He founded the industrial school in 1909 and set up a trust fund of $60,000,000 which has grown to $84,000,000. A board of directors handles applications for entrance to the school.

Smith-Cotton PTA Wants Forty Members

The Parent-Teacher membership drive conducted by the Smith-Cotton high school students lacks only forty members of reaching the goal of one thousand which will entitle them to an orchestra dance sponsored by the P. T. A.

An extension has been granted until Tuesday to give them more time to obtain the goal.

Monday Deadline for Christmas Packages

Monday is the deadline for mailing Christmas boxes to men and women in the service who are overseas, without a request from the person in the armed forces.

Attention to this fact is called by Edward P. Mullaley, postmaster.

After that date packages may be mailed only to those persons who have made written requests, which must be shown before the packages will be accepted for mailing.

Death To Any "Nips Eating Flesh Of Comrades"

TOKYO, Oct. 13.—(P)—Japanese army headquarters approved of soldiers in the field eating the flesh of their enemies, but decreed death to Nippon soldiers who ate their own dead comrades' flesh.

Proof that Japanese resorted to cannibalism was announced today by a secret Allied headquarters section which uncovered an imperial army order written Dec. 10, 1944, specifying that troops could eat the flesh of Allied dead.

The intelligence agency also disclosed it had documentary evidence that a Japanese naval interpreter named Kenneth Yunone executed an American flier and another Allied soldier by cutting their heads off Oct. 24 and Nov. 17, 1943.

Yunone, who was captured Apr. 25, 1944, at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, is now being held in an Australian prison and faces trial as a war criminal.

Evidence Uncovered
Evidence of cannibalism was found among thousands of seized papers about Japanese military operations.

One Japanese document said: "Furthermore, those who have consumed human flesh (excluding that of the enemy) knowing very well it is human flesh, will be sentenced to death for committing the worst possible crime against humanity."

Another Japanese order written Dec. 10, 1944, declared that Japanese troops could eat the flesh of enemy dead, but not that of their own dead.

Other captured papers showed that these orders were violated five days later when four Japanese soldiers executed by order of Major Morimoto, commanding officer of the second battalion, for eating Japanese flesh.

Records dated Dec. 21, 1944, revealed that Morimoto joined his men in eating the flesh of two Australian fliers killed in action.

Names of Yunone's victims were not disclosed. Yunone is not the Japanese in much-publicized photograph of the beheading of Australian Flight Lt. William Newton. That executioner has been identified by Allied authorities as an American-born Japanese named Yoshito, but he has not yet been apprehended.

Twenty-eight U. S. Navy Men Die In Storm

Seventy Missing And 423 Injured In Destruction

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 13.—(P)—Navy headquarters said tonight 28 Navy men were killed, 70 were missing and 423 injured in the typhoon which swept Okinawa Island south of the Japanese homeland Monday and Tuesday.

Of the injured, 91 were reported to be seriously hurt. Twenty-five of the navy men met death in accidents afloat and three were killed in shore establishments. The Navy said casualty reports have not yet been received from all the ships at sea.

The Navy already has announced that 100 of its personnel were injured in the typhoon.

Winds reaching a maximum velocity of 132 miles an hour levelled barracks and installations ashore and raised waves 20 feet high on Buckner Bay, off Okinawa's southeast coast. The seven-hour blow was preceded by 12 hours of torrential rain.

Beach Naval Craft

The Navy earlier had reported that 130 naval craft were beached or damaged. These included nine minesweepers, one minelayer and one patrol craft driven aground and probably a total loss; four other minesweepers which can be refloated and one patrol craft which can be salvaged.

Minesweeping operations in Japanese waters will be delayed by the destruction and damage to shore installations and ships.

It was estimated that 80 per cent of the Navy's shore stations were damaged or wiped out. Sailors, Seabees and Marines immediately started clearing away debris and setting up temporary quarters.

Food shortage resulting from damaged supplies and levelled warehouses was relieved by Army Superforts and Navy transport planes which brought in supplies from Guam and other island bases.

Casualties on the island included four Japanese prisoners of war caught in collapsing structures.

The Navy said that of the 91 naval personnel seriously wounded, 82 were hurt aboard their ships, and nine ashore. Many of the 332 slightly injured were victims of immersion.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Army Eight Air Force on Okinawa, said none of the men of his outfit was severely injured during the storm, although they lost 70 per cent of their tent facilities.

Fifty per cent of the Eighth AF's planes will need major replacements, Partridge said.

Kansan Hurt In Car Wreck

James Anderson, 22, 1520 Stewart, Kansas City, Kas., suffered a severe injury to his left elbow about 1:15 o'clock Saturday morning, when according to Trooper Peter Stohr, of the highway patrol, a car he was driving was sideswiped by an Army truck. The accident occurred about one mile east of La Monte on highway 50.

Anderson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, of Kansas City, Mo., was driving east on the highway. The truck, driven by John W. Pyles, 20, Negro, accompanied by Sigmond Misizak, was going west. Anderson's 32 Chevrolet coupe was completely demolished. Other occupants of both vehicles were not injured.

Anderson was taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. W. T. Bishop gave medical treatment. The elbow was broken and so seriously injured that the patient was taken to Kansas City later in the day to be under the care of a bone specialist.

Trooper Stohr reported the matter to the Army. He was returning from a trip to St. Joseph and arrived on the scene immediately after it had happened.

Acquittal To Cpl. Robertson

HIGH WYCOMBE, England, Oct. 13.—(P)—An American court-martial acquitted Cpl. Leonard Dale Robertson, 23, of Tipton, Mo., today of a charge of murder in the death of 17-year-old Betty Smith in a park at Marlow the night of June 24.

The defense based its case on a physician's testimony that the English girl's body showed no signs of violence. The soldier's counsel added that Robertson was a married man who wished to return to the United States, where his wife waits him with a small son, born since he came to Europe with the invasion army.

The prosecution's case was based on testimony that a post-mortem showed the girl died of strangulation. The defense presented the testimony of two army doctors that the girl's death resulted from an embolism caused by the introduction of air into her body.

Hey! You With the Gun — Close That Gate!

A few thoughtless hunters can spoil the fun of many. Nothing so infuriates a farmer than to discover hunters not only have failed to ask permission to hunt on his land, but have done so despite "no trespassing" warnings, and departed the premises leaving gates wide open.

It must be these inconsiderate hunters have running through their minds the words of a verse:

"The gates are mine to open,
As the gates are mine to close."

—Except that some "field and streamers" don't close them. Of course it could be the city sportsmen don't know what a farmer's gate is used for, but the farmer will explain it is mostly to pen up live stock keeping them from roaming elsewhere and maybe destroying other persons' property.

There is the bare possibility these careless gate-openers are the same persons who in summer time stand holding a screen door open permitting the flies to come in; or in winter, the icy blasts.

Understanding the Other Fellow

An interesting remark in Drew Pearson's column today: "The problem of preventing war is largely one of getting to know and understand people."

A speaker addressing a local audience advised much the same thing for organization and individual support of civic affairs. Join with others in projects that will benefit the community. You can't stand apart and conscientiously share the benefits of community advancement. Learn to know and understand people.

Much of community travail would be dissipated if all organizations and all individuals would determine at least to attempt to understand each other and each other's motives when it comes to enterprises that will promote the best interest of the community.

There seems to be a malignant impulse to take an immediate negative attitude toward some proposal just because it is advanced by some other person.

This goes right down to the family circle. If husbands and wives, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters would get to know and understand each other, then the next step would be more neighborly friendship, then more community friendship, more national friendship and finally more international friendship.

The Golden Rule is ageless.

It's the give and take between individuals and groups that counts. Yet, axiomatic as this is, it is the most difficult philosophy to sell to another — especially a young person.

But when the young do recognize early the need for mutual cooperation and begin to practice it in their family life, there is a ray of hope for the future of mankind. Just keep alive the spark of understanding and some day man's pigmy brain will absorb the light and become conscious of the true meaning of brotherly love.

Careful Reading in Assam

Just how carefully the Sedalia Democrat and Capital are read beyond the local area of Central Missouri is indicated in a letter from Pfc. George Grady over in Gauhati, Assam (that's in northeast India).

Among figures printed in the smallest type reporting the daily totals in the June Bond drive, Pfc. Grady noted one figure out of place. At the time the news staff noted it also and learned that the lesser figure one day was caused because the bond money had not yet been turned into the bank.

At the time soldier Grady wrote he mentioned that there were four Sedalia boys in Gauhati: C. "Corkie" W. Townsend, W. E. Pummell, Elmer Paul and himself. "I'll see you when I get back," he says.

About the same time another letter from Merchant Seaman E. R. Perry of the SS Platano, said:

"Today I had occasion to go ashore on one of the small islands here in the Philippines. While waiting to transact my business I came across an old copy of the Sedalia Democrat. Couldn't find out who got it out in this desolate place but I do know it was darn good to see a copy of the old "home town" paper.

"As I sat reading I thought of two things that prompt my letter to you, namely:

"First — The people back home scream their heads off when they don't get meat. I wonder how they would feel if they could see some of the boys who are on this island. We came here with a cargo of fresh meat. These boys received us with real joy. They hadn't had any fresh meat for three and a half months. Just how do the people back home think they can justify their complaining? Certainly they can't say their work is more arduous. These Seabees have done a real job here on these islands and I'm not kidding anyone.

"Second — I have just been wondering how many people ever thought of the Merchant Seaman as part of the great team in this war. Every day we read of the glory of the army, navy, marines, air corps, etc., but who stops to praise the Merchant Seaman? The war is over and let me tell you that there is no merchant seaman who does not feel that he did his part. Wherever the army, navy or marines went, the merchant seamen went also. They delivered the goods. Theirs is a rather lonely life. They don't stay in any one place long enough to form friendships. They load or unload and are gone as soon as possible.

"I guess that the one thing they wait for most is to reach a port where we get mail. I hope when historians write of this war or when people talk of it they will not forget that the Merchant Seaman did his bit.

"Expressing joy at having seen the Democrat out here so far from the city of origin, I am, Respectfully, E. R. Perry."

Protecting the Postwar House

Fire Prevention Week comes this year on the eve of what promises to be the country's biggest building boom. And it comes with a timely reminder that it costs no more to build a dwelling properly, according to recommendations of the National Fire Protection Association, than it does to construct a potential fire trap.

In the last 10 years fire has killed 100,000 Americans, 75,000 of them in homes. It has burned and disfigured 170,000. It has destroyed $3,000,000,000 worth of property. Our peacetime fire loss has become the highest in the world, higher even than the normal loss in the supposedly tinderbox country of Japan.

The causes of our fires are about equally divided between carelessness and negligence. And while human behavior isn't so easily corrected, structural hazards can be eliminated.

So those who are planning to buy or build should make sure that their postwar "dream house" has such practical necessities as an adequate wiring system with sufficient outlets; a roof of fire-resistant material; a properly constructed chimney; and an efficient heating plant, properly installed and adequately protected.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Random thoughts of a "chronic liar"—some editors believe that a columnist isn't supposed to think, only report. But sometimes this "columnist" gets tired crouching under the president's desk, taking notes on what he says to the house ways and means committee, or climbing up state department fire escapes to read Jimmy Byrnes' diplomatic dispatches. . . . Sometimes not even a "chronic liar" can avoid the painful effort of thinking — especially when the world looks so dreary. . . . Gen. George Marshall has just contributed to that dreariness. He says we'll need to mobilize an army of 4,000,000 men, on the heels of a war which we thought was going to bring peace. . . . In the next breath the general knocks the props from under his argument by telling us about great 100,000-pound rockets which can be guided across the ocean to hit factories and cities and, of course, men. . . . What would those rockets do to a helpless mass of 4,000,000 men? The answer is obvious, but it doesn't make for a cheerful morning.

Dreary October

October can be about the most beautiful month in the year. Ordinarily you get up bursting with the joy of living. . . . But not this October. On top of General Marshall's doleful message, along come the atom-bomb scientists with another cheerful warning. The atom bomb, they say, is sure to be discovered by other countries. Russia frequently is far ahead of us in science. . . . Cheerful little thought. Our cup of joy now runneth over. . . . But that isn't all. The chief living German specialist on atom energy, Werner Heisenberg (a Nazi) has disappeared, and the U. S. army either doesn't know or won't tell us what's happened to him. . . . And more cheerful news. Enough atomic energy to blow up the city of New York can be smuggled into this country in a loaf of bread. Once inside, it could be made into a bomb with the machinery used in an ordinary bicycle shop. . . . In other words, an enemy wouldn't need to use the long distance rockets General Marshall and General Arnold have been warning us about. And how could an army in New York stop the explosion?

On the heels of all this comes Jimmy Byrnes, an able statesman and usually an optimistic one, bringing us the most doleful report ever emanating from an international conference. . . . The London meeting was about the most important the world has seen. Yet it was the world's greatest diplomatic failure.

Sermon on the Mount
Maybe, however, there is one small ray of hope on this dreary October horizon. . . . Maybe because the weapons of war have reached such a state of perfection, maybe because we have reached the all-time low in international discouragement, we will wake up and revolutionize our tactics. . . . Maybe we will wake up to the futility of old-fashioned diplomacy, and the hopelessness of big armies, and put our faith in friendship. . . . In other words, everything else having failed, we might finally come around to practicing the Sermon on the Mount. . . . It has worked with our good neighbors in Latin America. Maybe it would work in Europe and Asia — where lurks the greatest danger.

Department of Peace
Why not, for instance, really begin working at the job of getting along with other nations and people? Why not, for instance, establish a department of peace. . . . If, for instance, we spent a small fraction of the amount we spent for war on good neighborliness, it couldn't hurt and it might help. . . . A drowning man will grasp at anything to save himself. Since we now admit that civilization is in danger of going under, perhaps we'll grasp at such a revolutionary thing as trying to work at the Sermon on the Mount and peace.

A lot of people will call me crazy or a chronic liar or something similar for suggesting this, but perhaps it isn't so crazy. . . . Take, for example, what we did in Latin America. There, Nelson Rockefeller did a pretty good job — until he made the mistake of patting Argentina on the back. . . . We exchanged professors, students and newspapermen. We got Latin Americans up here to travel around and see that the USA was full of friendly and relatively harmless people. . . . This is important. The problem of preventing war is largely one of getting to know and understand people. . . . We will never have any war with the British because we understand them. But the Russian situation is much more difficult. In the first place, we isolated Russia for nearly 20 years. We snubbed her diplomatically and we are now reaping the consequences. . . . You can't keep a nation at arm's length without making them suspicious. And the Russians are now just as suspicious of us as the U. S. senate was of the League of Nations and the World Court in the days of Woodrow

Advice to Overweights; Eat Less

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Treatment of overweight, caused by excessive fatty deposits in the body, is a dietary problem as in most cases there is no good reason to believe glandular disorders are responsible. Edward H. Ryerson, M. D., told the Omaha Mid-West Medical Society that only 3 per cent of heavyweights have glandular trouble.

Tendency to overweight
C. Dr. O'Brien seems to run in some families. In questioning overweight persons it was found that 70 to 80 per cent had one or both parents who were overweight. Strains of mice have been developed in which overweight is so excessive they find it difficult to get around. Tendency for fat to collect in certain places in the body also is subject to definite underlying factors.

Treatment Is Diet
In children the tendency to overweight is often associated with early maturity, but no matter what the background may be, the cause of overweight is always physical underactivity, overconsumption of food, or both. Treatment of overweight, no matter what the cause, lies in the diet.

Some heavy persons weigh Wilson. . . . They don't want to enter any world league or conference unless they have the veto power — just exactly as the U. S. senate demanded the right to veto decisions of the world court or the league.

Selling the USA
So the problem is partly getting the Russians to like us and trust us, and to understand that we're not such bad people. . . . The other day I travelled from Washington to St. Louis. In the car next to me were about 20 Russian officers and their wives, and they were having a terrible time. They couldn't understand anybody, much less the porter. Their tickets were bailed up, they didn't know where to change cars, and I am certain they were of the opinion that this country was deliberately conspiring to cause them trouble. . . . What an opportunity that would have been for a good neighbor agency or a department of peace! What an opportunity to sell the U. S. A. Instead of having strangers be uncomfortable. . . . All the U. S. government needs to do is practice the same principle that Rotary or Kiwanis or the Lions club practices every day in the week. When a prominent stranger comes to town, they show him around. They believe in their town, and make him believe in it.

We have a great country and hospitable people live in it, but we are woefully lacking in selling ourselves to the world. . . . A department of peace could arrange to get several thousand Russian students over here on a scholarship exchange basis, sell them on the USA. The same could be done with professors. We need to study the Russian language and they the English. . . . It wasn't until the Boxer rebellion indemnity fund provided for thousands of Chinese students to study in this country that we got to be so friendly with the Chinese. . . . Why not do the same with Russia?

In other words, there is no use doing a lot of wishful thinking about peace unless we get out and practice it. For the cost of one battleship, we paid the expenses of Rockefeller's Latin American good neighbor committee for four full years. It was dirt cheap. If we can head off the war with Russia that the brass hats are talking about, and secretly preparing for, not only will it be cheap, but it will save civilization. . . . Now that we are about to drown, let's grasp at the last straw. We have tried everything else, from pitchforks to more than charts indicate as ideal for their height because they have heavy bone and muscle structure. A reduced diet is valueless for that type of overweight.

Medicines for treatment of overweight either are harmless or worthless. Many contain cathartics which reduce the weight by causing temporary loss of water. his type of weight loss also occurs after violent exercise, but the lost pounds are quickly regained from food and drink. Some reducing remedies contain stimulants of metabolism which may over-excite the glands of internal secretion and cause serious body damage.

We Eat Too Much
Reason most reducing diets fail is that they are too liberal. The purpose is to conserve the fat under the skin instead of food from the table. This is accomplished by eating a normal amount of protein, vitamins and minerals, reducing the starches and sugars and bringing the fats (Butter, cream, and animal fats, nuts and other rich foods) down to a low level. Liberal supply of lean meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, minerals and vitamins is allowed.

Most of us who are overweight realize we eat more than we need for the amount of work we do. Moderate overweight can be eliminated by confining our eating to three meals a day, stopping at one serving, eliminating rich gravies, sauces and desserts, and eating portions of servings.

MY FIRST FALL

VI
I WORKED so hard those weeks that practicing became a nightmare and I went about in a daze. The strain of the Christmas matinees did me still more harm, and I really felt ill but did not dare complain about it. So I neglected to take care of myself according to the rules laid down by Ogrinsky. It was partly my fault that I fell. Children do not have the subconscious reflexes of older people, especially when fatigued or not well.

People have often asked me what it feels like to fall from a great height and what I have thought about at the time. I have been able to tell them only that the whole thing happens so quickly that there is not much time for thinking about anything except a moment of wild panic, a frenzied grab for a rope or anything handy, and then, as one's body goes hurtling toward the ground, a feeling of resignation with the one hopeless thought, "This is IT."

To return to my first fall in the Olympia: I was working off time and could not get into the correct seat of the swing. While I was doing a difficult crossing pass, the bar twisted somehow and I lost my grip. It all happened in an instant, but I kept my head as I felt myself falling and tried desperately to "tuck" as I had been taught to do, for the fall in the net. But the twist of the trapeze bar must have thrown me sideways so that I struck the side of the net where an iron hook was fastened to guy it out. This broke my fall but fractured my skull, and my body fell outside the net onto the tanbark of the ring below.

I was unconscious and terribly smashed up, and when they got me to St. George's Hospital, the doctors did not think there was any hope for me. In fact, they did not even trouble to clean the dirt out of a wound on my wrist, and this caused an infection a few days later that very nearly cost me my left arm.

Mother was sent for, and grandma cabled my father to come at once. As soon as he arrived, he made arrangements to have me removed to a private hospital in Sloane Street.

When I got to be a little better and could take in what was going on around me, I found the numerous incidents that occurred by my grandmother and the nurses a source of welcome diversion, even though I was nearly always in pain. In a way they did me good, for I managed to have some laughs, especially one day when grandma arrived at the hospital with a quantity of thick brown paper bags, purloined from the nearest grocery store. She had soaked them in olive oil to form an unpleasant-looking compress which she had liberally sprinkled with red pepper. This compress, held in place with a hot iron, she maintained was an infallible Spanish remedy to relieve pain. Needless to say, the efficiency of this treatment was never tried out on me.

I spent 18 months in the hospital, and for the first few months went through operation after operation, till at last they pulled me through the worst of it.

My left shoulder was completely stiff and helpless, and at one time there was talk of amputating my arm. Only my mother's firm refusal prevented this—and the wonderful care I had from Dr. Abercrombie, a little Scotch surgeon who saved my life. Poor man! What he went through at times with grandma was unbelievable. Mother was extremely nervous and constantly worried about my brother, who had run away from school and joined the Foreign Legion, claiming to be 21 when he was only 18. She could get little news from him, only the army postcards with three or four lines of stereotyped news. I realize now that she went through a terrible time between the two of us.

When at last I was able to get out of bed and tried to walk again, a difference in the length of my legs became terribly noticeable. The left one, which had been most badly fractured, was one and a half inches shorter than the right. Despite hours spent in hanging bags of sand on it and pulling and twisting, they could not get it stretched. So it was decided that when my father left for Canada again, my mother would take me to Switzerland, regardless of war conditions and traveling difficulties, for there was just a glimmer of hope that perhaps Doctor Neumann of Lausanne could help me. He was a famous orthopedic specialist and very expensive but considered an authority in such cases as mine.

He advised mother to send me to a convalescent home near Lausanne where I would receive treatments. When I saw the chart showing all the injuries I had got through that fall in Olympia, I realized with some feeling of pride that I must have put up a pretty good fight to be alive at all. Nearly all my left side had been shattered, including internal injuries and what not.

When the time came for me to leave Lausanne, mother was preparing another concert tournee and was too busy to come to Switzerland for me. It was with mixed emotions I found myself traveling with grandma. Grandma had plainly shown that she was disgusted with me for my catwren stupidity in wrecking a promising circus career just when I was showing the ability to carry on where she left off. For she had made up her mind that after the Olympia Circus, she would retire and devote her time to my professional future.

Sign Bill For Women On Juries

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 14—(AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly signed Friday 9 bills permitting women to serve for the first time on Missouri juries.

The measures, drawn to conform with provisions of the 1945 constitution, do not go into effect until after the legislature adjourns unless pending legislation is passed to make bills effective after a 30-day recess.

Under them, women will be able to sit on grand, petit or coroner's juries but may be excused from serving if they wish.

The governor deferred action on two companion measures in the series pending further study.

Also signed were two bills affecting St. Louis—one to designate another division of domestic relations in the city circuit court and one to provide machinery for raising the city library tax to 3/5 of a mill.

OSS Officer Lands Spies On French Coast to Aid Patton Break Through

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Landing Allied spies and agents on the coast of France when it was controlled by the Germans was routine stuff for the men of the Office of Strategic Services working with British Intelligence officers. But the stories of the deeds of these men constitute one of the thrilling chapters of World War II.

F. Michael Carroll, a Yale graduate from Chicago, had been doing this work for many months, operating off the coast of England. He was a navy lieutenant with OSS. A month after D-Day he got his most important assignment.

The Normandy beachhead was stalled. Gen. Patton was ready to try to crash through to Avranches and Brest and knock the Germans out of Brittany, but it was essential to find out how many divisions of the German strategic reserves had been moved into that area. It was decided to send in three French spies to find out. Time was all-important. The situation was explained to Carroll and he was assigned to plan the landing of these men.

A Race With The Moon
Phase of the moon was one of the most important factors in the landing operation. When the moon was bright it was impossible. He had three days before the moon would come out. The first two days a storm raged over the channel. Afternoon of the third day it began to abate but the water was still very rough. It was decided to make the attempt anyway. It would be weeks before they could try again.

The three French spies and their equipment were stowed beneath the deck of the British Motor Torpedo Boat. It was an unwritten rule that in all such operations the men to be landed remained below deck and never communicated with any member of the landing crew.

Although the storm had lessened, it was raining and very windy. About mid-channel complete darkness had fallen. Speed was cut to 20 knots. The motor made less noise at this speed. As they got closer they traveled slower. Since the invasion the Germans had become doubly alert along the coast they still controlled. They were afraid of a second invasion. Planes could be heard approaching but none of them spotted the boat in the murky night.

As they came close to a rocky island about 20 miles from the coast, a lighthouse suddenly flashed its beacon. This was bad. It meant a German convoy was close by. Sure enough. Through the rain could be seen three large ships. The motors on the MTB were cut to idling and the boat drifted. The crew was tense. They just had to sweat it out until the convoy passed, hoping they wouldn't be seen.

For 45 minutes the dark shapes moved slowly past. The last ship seemed headed straight for their boat. If they tried to move to get out of the way they surely would have been detected. It was a dangerous moment. But the ship suddenly turned and passed within 100 yards of the small British craft. When it was out of sight the beacon went out and they resumed their slow course to the coast.

Peril From The Sky
Finally they inched to within a quarter of a mile of the shore. They anchored behind a rock for protection. The situation was bad. Waiting for the convoy had upset the schedule. The tide was coming out fast and the surf was running high. The wind was howling. With difficulty they lowered two dinghys. Just as the three Frenchmen were getting in, the roar of a plane diving at them was heard. It came straight towards them like thunder. The spit of a machine gun could be seen. Everyone in the small boat stood frozen in their position. About 50 slugs hit the boat but nobody was struck. It passed and didn't return. They didn't know whether it was an American or German plane. The pilot was probably guessing at his target.

Fifteen minutes after the two dinghys pushed off the single word, "touchdown," came over the walkie talkie. This meant they were safely ashore. Ten minutes later the terse words, "coming back" were spoken. This was the maximum communication they could use without attracting attention. Fifteen minutes later the dinghys should have been back. Ten more minutes passed. The crew was getting tense. The whole thing would fail if they were caught now. Finally they arrived and a few minutes later were able to start their slow journey out of the danger zone.

Germans Are Foiled
Gradually speeding up to 10 knots they were getting close to mid-channel when out of the darkness a light signal flashed at them. It blinked "KX," German code for "halt." The MTB flashed back immediately, "KT," German code for "hold up a minute." They had learned this from other agents.

The whole mission could still be ruined. Their capture would mean

ALLEY OOP

'Moonshine' Is Fatal to Boy

DOUBLE SPRINGS, Ala., Oct. 14.—(P)—Solicitor J. A. Posey said Friday that Charley Taylor, 60-year-old Winston county farmer, is held in jail on a murder warrant which charges that he caused the death of a six-year-old boy by giving him "several swallows of moonshine whiskey."

The child, Fletcher Lee Sellers of Haleyville, became unconscious after consuming the whiskey on Oct. 3 and died the following day without regaining consciousness, the solicitor asserted.

Posey said the state's investigation disclosed these circumstances: The child accompanied several older brothers and sisters to the Taylor farm, where the other children had been engaged by Taylor to pick cotton.

Taylor produced a half-gallon fruit jar containing moonshine whisky, and passed it around to the Germans knew spies had been landed and the resulting intensive search might locate them. Flashing "KT" frantically the MTB increased its speed. All they had to do was bluff their way out of gun range and open up to full speed. The crew of the small boat rushed to battle stations in case a fight developed.

In a few moments, however, the motors roared into full throttle. They were out of range and soon the light was out of sight. They had done the job. Later they heard that the three Frenchmen had been successful in their mission. Patton broke through, as history tells.

Lieut. Carroll received the Bronze Star Medal for his work.

the children, including the six-year-old.

The youngster "took two or three swallows" and later consumed "an additional amount" after Taylor had left the field.

None of the other children suffered any ill effects.

Dr. W. M. Godsey, Haleyville physician, diagnosed the cause of death as "pneumonia induced by alcohol," the solicitor reported.

Goods May be Marked 'OPA'

Effective October 15, any retailer of commodities other than food will be permitted to mark or tag goods with the words "OPA Price" instead of "Ceiling Price" wherever individual marking of tagging is required by an OPA price regulation. The price may be shown in this way on the commodity itself, its container or wrapper, depending on the provisions of the particular regulation. Retailers may use the words "OPA Price" for goods priced exactly at the ceiling, or below the ceiling.

As a result, the wording on price tags will be more uniform from store to store, OPA said. In addition, retailers will be relieved of the burden of marking many articles with two statements of price, one to show the OPA ceiling and the other to show the store's actual selling price. Of course, retailers who wish to continue using the words "Ceiling Price" may do so.

Any retailer who decides to mark goods with the words "OPA Price" must put up a sign in type at least one inch high, in the premises where the articles are offered for sale and clearly visible to shoppers. The sign will read: "The 'OPA Price' marked or tagged on merchandise in this store is no higher than the OPA ceiling price of the articles."

New Superintendent Will Preach Today

The Rev. H. S. Anglin, the new superintendent of the Sedalia district will preach in the Fifth Street Methodist church today. For the past four years Rev. Anglin has been district superintendent of the Clinton district. Before coming to the Southwest Missouri Conference, he belonged to the St. Louis Conference. He will move to Sedalia in the district parsonage, 806 West Sixth street just as soon as possession can be secured.

Rev. Anglin will attend the Dresden Home-coming and preach there at 2 p. m.

Underground Cities Suggested As Shield Against Atomic Bomb

As defense against atomic warfare, this type of underground construction is detailed by Louis Bruchiss, aeronautical authority. In units like this one, vital plants and communications would be concentrated. Level No. 1 would be devoted to manufacturing and assembly plants. No. 2 would provide warehousing facilities for raw materials and food. No. 3 is reserved as a residential zone. No. 4, military headquarters, would house communications, radar, etc. No. 5 would contain service units to provide power, air conditioning, etc. No. 6 and No. 7 would furnish highway and electric railroad transportation. Built under high mountain peaks, these units would be safe from surface bombing. Multiple doors, operating on the same principles used in ship construction, would furnish added protection. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Editor's Note: Louis Bruchiss is the author of "Aircraft Armament" (Aerosphere, Inc., New York) and an editor of "Aerosphere," international aeronautical authority. He is a member of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, the Army Ordnance Association, the United States Naval Institute and the American Rocket Society.

By LOUIS BRUCHISS
Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK — In the general expression of shock, amazement and horror which have followed disclosure of the atomic bomb, the general public has overlooked something which is apparent at once to the engineer — that the damage largely is dissipated over the surface of the earth and that deep shelters may be constructed which would effectively protect human life and industry from atomic warfare.

We should start at once to put a percentage of our vital industries and populations underground. These industries primarily should be manufacturing assembly plants of various types, both for military and civilian needs. High subterranean warehouses for basic materials, food and other supplies also will be needed.

These underground cities should be built deep under mountain ranges to take advantage of surface rock strata. They would be in sections and inter-connected by underground high-speed electric railroads. These would be protected by extremely thick concrete and steel, automatically operated doors to seal off tunnels from atomic blast air pressure. (Devices are available which register variations in pressure and which can be made to actuate any type of electrical or mechanical equipment.)

There would be many entrances and exits to these underground cities, including long ramps, and specially constructed elevators. Living quarters would be constructed above ground, but modernistically equipped sub-surface barracks would also be available for emergency.

We Have "Know-How"

Our present military and civilian engineering experience are adequate to build this type of defense. We have perfected air conditioning and artificial sunlight. We have built intricate subway systems, tunnels, enormous dam projects and today mine coal and other minerals in vast underground areas. In fact it is well known that we can live for protracted periods underground under controlled conditions, without impairing health.

A system would be worked out whereby a certain number of workers would live and work underground for limited periods so as to accustom themselves to conditions. Since the major construction work involved will be earth removal and concrete and steel building, much of the material left over from the war, as well as manpower trained in the use of explosives and in construction work, are immediately available.

We have countless tons of explosives on hand, as well as such necessary machinery as earth removers, bulldozers, tractors, and other machines formerly used for building overseas air fields and bases.

Obviously such an undertaking should be initiated by Congress, and financed by public funds. It would serve to pick up the reconversion slack of unemployment. It would be a wise investment in our national defense.

ORGANIC STOPPERS AND STARTERS

Have you ever considered why an organ or a gland starts functioning? And why, when once started, it stops? There are nerve centers in the brain and cord which excite action and another center which inhibits action for each function. (Pavlov).

Activity is started by receipt of appropriate stimuli in the brain center.

Arrival of food in the stomach activates the brain center which initiates nerve impulses which start secretion of digestive fluids. After hunger is appeased the stimuli resulting activates the center which inhibits function. The organ rests until again activated. The same idea applies to other organs.

These activating and inhibiting impulses pass from and to the brain thru different nerves; irritation of these nerves, at any point, may start or stop secretion. If secretion is continued beyond normal, due to the irritation of the nerve by a subluxation in the spine, it is an injurious condition; if it fails to secrete proper digestive juices, due to irritation of the nerve which inhibits action, this too is injurious. If either condition is long continued, disease results. Spinal subluxation cause and perpetuate such conditions.

The nerves which connect the organ with the brain center that starts function leave the brain via a different route than those which inhibit function, hence the irritation causing too much acid will be at a different point than the irritation which causes too little acid. The chiropractor knows where these points are, knows where the starting and stopping points of irritation will be located and knows how to correct them. When the irritation is removed from the nerve connecting the brain center and the organ, normal function will return and KEEP ON FUNCTIONING NORMALLY. Let chiropractic remove your abnormal "starters and stoppers" and restore your health.

MUSEUM

Pa Pettis said to Ma: "This statement of a newspaper network, 'The comics section is read more regularly by more people than any other form of literature, sacred or profane, classic or contemporary,' struck me with the difference that has come over the reading habits of our nation. It used to be that even the most modest home had at least a bookcase full of books, many of them bound handsomely in leather. Now there are homes of people who boast that they are great readers in which there is not to be found a single book, even a paper bound one—only a magazine rack full of movie, detective, confession, and comic 'pulp.' And the books people used to take pride in owning were on serious subjects. Another one of those rare old books which Miss Stella Crandall loaned to the Museum illustrates this. It is a large book which evidently saw much use, because the pages are well-thumbed and it has been rebound in sheepskin. It was written in Spanish by a famous pulpit orator, Louis de Granada (1504-1589). Its title is 'Memorial of the Christian Life' and treats at great length of the Cardinal Virtues, the Seven Sacraments, and the Life of Christ. This book, which was first published in 1566, proved so popular that almost a hundred years later, in 1657, another edition of it was gotten out and dedicated to Philip IV, who at that time the dedication says was 'King of Spain and of the Indies, Monarch of the World.' Another book by this same author called 'A Guide to Sinners' was so popular that for the next 300 years it was translated into every European language, and in 1889 an English translation of it was made in New York. This book in the Crandall collection is of the 1657 edition. The range and the seriousness of the reading habits of those days is indicated by the long list of books recommended by the Madrid publisher. The books are listed under the headings: Scholastic and Moral Theology, Devotion, Sermons, Law, History, Grammar and Literature. Books for entertainment are listed last with Miscellaneous."

Ma Pettis said: "You are right, Pa, about every home having a book case. Don't you remember we used to have one which camouflaged a folding bed—a spare bed for our many over-night visitors? In the olden days books and spare beds were among the pleasing necessities of life."

THE KMBC SCHOOLHOUSE is particularly busy these days. Two new projects were taken on this year—one of which is "Curtain Call." This novel dramatic quarter-hour promises ever increasing interest as the weeks progress. Program time is the same as for other KMBC Schoolhouse organizations—2:15 in the afternoon—the day being Friday.

HERBIE IS UP TO HIS USUAL HIGHJINKS out at the Brush Creek Follies these Saturday nights—and the crowds love him so dear. Yes, even after being a headliner through all these years since the inception of the Follies nine seasons ago! When we got to talking about traveling over the country for broadcasts, Herbie sniffed and pointed out that one day in Pawnee City, Nebraska for a personal appearance—the next in Woodward, Oklahoma. Yep—that's getting around all right... we know a lot of entertainers with the secret ambition of having a song published, but Louisiana Lou—2 new face at the Follies, as far as the past season was concerned—not only has had a "song published"—but 200 of 'em! In case you're wondering—Louisiana Lou is also Aggie Stikes on the "Big Brother Club"—weekdays at 5:30 p.m.

DID YOU KNOW—Ray Huggins claims his most embarrassing moment was his first attempt at being an emcee. You'd never know it now, the kind of a job he does on "Western Echoes" nightly at 5:45 p.m. Phil Evans has been heard on KMBC for five years, three times per day, five days a week (6:15 a.m., 12:20 p.m., and 12:30 p.m.)—a total of over 4,000 consecutive farmcasts—and has never missed a day without even time off for vacations.

THIS IS THE TIME of the year when radio is sparkling fresh with new shows. Two of the past week bearing mention are "The Dick Haymes Show" (Saturdays 7:00 p.m.) and "Request Performance" (Sundays 8:00 p.m.). "Request" had its inspiration in the weekend dinner shows which the Masquers Service's Morale Corps provided more than 70,000 men and women in uniform during the past two years.

ANSWER BOX FROM THE MAIL-BOX—Hiram Hixby, of Brush Creek Follies fame, is now with an Oklahoma City radio station handling like duties on a similar barn dance show. Chuck Worcester is now heard on "Columbia County Journal" (KMBC—Sundays, 8:00 a.m.). Something about Ted Ross? Well, Ted is 5' 7" tall—weighs 150 pounds. Frank Hayes will serve as toastmaster and a sociable evening is anticipated by the men members of the club. Reservations must be made by Wednesday noon.

There will be a two-ball four-some event this afternoon on the club golf course. The golfers, both men and women, will tee off at 1:15 o'clock. The regular Sunday night supper will be served this evening.

At the weekly afternoon card party last Thursday winners in bridge were Mrs. Henry Harris, Mrs. W. E. Pearl, Mrs. E. W. Thompson and Mrs. Henry Salveter and Mrs. Hugo Sparr and Mrs. George H. Trader won in Mah Jongg.

The Thursday party will be held this week with reservations to be made by Tuesday noon.

Mrs. John Hicks of New Rochelle, N. Y., former Sedalia, was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at her Hyde Park home on Thursday of last week.

The Hicks country home, where Mrs. Hicks and her sister Miss Marian Phipps spent the summer, and Hyde Park are neighboring estates in Dutchess county. An article by Mrs. Roosevelt on farming activities published in a journal elicited Mrs. Hicks' interest and she wrote the late president's wife that she enjoyed it, asking several pertinent questions. Mrs. Roosevelt responded with a note which contained an invitation to have lunch with her on Thursday.

Mrs. Hicks and Miss Phipps plan to return to their town apartment in New Rochelle this week. They are sisters of Mrs. James I. Collins, 823 West Fifth street, and nieces of Mrs. W. H. Highleyman, 316 West Fourth street, who received letters Friday from Mrs. Hicks in which she told of the invitation from Mrs. Roosevelt.

Before a flower-decked altar at the Fifth Street Methodist church, on Sunday, October 7, Miss Lydia Marie Gerster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Gerster, 621 East Tenth street, was married to Rex R. Taggart, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Taggart, of Glendale, Ariz., in a double ring ceremony read by Dr. H. U. Campbell.

The bride wore a street dress of winter white wool fashioned with silhouette sleeves and carried a single white orchid on a white prayer book. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her accessories were black. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Anna Mae Gerster, who wore a light blue wool street dress fashioned along the same lines as the bride's. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses and black accessories.

Norman G. Alvis, U. S. N., served Mr. Taggart as best man.

Mrs. Roger Pack at the organ played a medley of nuptial music before the ceremony and "To A Wild Rose" (MacDowell) as the candles were lighted by Betty Jean Gerster and Laverne Broyles. They were dressed in matching frocks of grey and aqua wool with corsages of pink gladioli.

Before the exchange of vows Miss Marian Wade sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." The bride entered the church auditorium on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march. During the ceremony Mrs. Pack softly played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The ushers were Pvt. Jimmie Lon Leslie and Ralph McKelvey, U. S. N., former high school classmates of the bride.

Miss Gerster, now Mrs. Taggart, was born and reared in Sedalia, graduating from Smith-Cotton high school with the class of 1944. She was active in the National Forensic league, the Spiz club and Student Council. She attended Central Missouri State college at Warrensburg for one year and is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority.

Mr. Taggart was born and reared in Independence, Kas., graduating from high school in 1933. He enlisted in the navy in 1939 and served in the Atlantic and Asiatic war areas as a pharmacist mate. He returned to the States in 1943 to enter the Navy V-12 program at Washburn college, Topeka, Kas., later transferring to the college at Warrensburg. At present he is a student in the University of Kansas school of medicine at Lawrence, and is a member of Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity.

Many Sedalia Women Attend Regional Garden Club Meet in Warrensburg

The West Central regional conference of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, including 11 counties met for its annual convention at Warrensburg Friday, one hundred thirty-five delegates being present. The Sedalia delegation was composed of 61 members of the six circles of the Sedalia Garden club, including the chairman of each circle. Mrs. F. M. Nicholas was transportation chairman and the delegation left Sedalia at 9:30 a. m., motoring to Warrensburg.

The conference was held in the Market Street Methodist church, the auditorium of which was elaborately decorated with beautiful fall flowers in baskets and containers with special attention to arrangements. The entire front of the auditorium was banked with brilliant flowers, one corner being unique in that it featured gourds of all sizes and shapes centered by a large swan shaped gourd. So natural was it, that it startled one to find that it was a real gourd "floating on a mirrored lake."

The day's activities were divided into three sections; the morning, luncheon and afternoon, with attractive handmade programs. The meeting was opened by the regional director Mrs. R. M. Larcom of Warrensburg with the usual opening ceremonies. Reports were given from each club which indicated the tremendous activities of the Garden clubs of the region. The two baby clubs, Green Ridge and LaMonte, gave surprising evidence of fine returns of their work. Several Sedalians were on the program. Mrs. Arthur Klange, state chairman of Juniors, gave a resume of the work accomplished in Missouri and suggested many ideas for the coming year. Mrs. H. C. Sammons spoke on the state awards and Mrs. Clarence L. Carter, state treasurer and retiring president of the Sedalia Garden club, gave a report of the activities of the Sedalia club, which had made her administration an outstanding success. Mrs. A. A. Ferguson is state chairman for the State Fair club activities and is also a member of the state board.

Mrs. Frank S. Leach, vice director of the region, presided over the luncheon program. Warrensburg members had made the dining room and tables a scene of autumn beauty using enameled wheel barrows overflowing with flowers and fruit and small hand made wheel barrows for favors with candies and nuts. Group singing and solo work were provided by Warrensburg ladies and talented young people from the college. Lovely corsages were found at the plates of all state and regional officers and state chairmen. Mrs. Leach introduced the distinguished guests present, each of whom brought a brief message. An interesting musical and floral quiz was held and Mrs. E. F. Yancey won an appropriate prize in this contest which was participated in by all of the luncheon guests.

During the afternoon session the vice president of the state society Mrs. H. A. Gardner of Monett brought an inspirational message and Mrs. R. O. Powelson of St. Joseph, state president gave the outstanding address of the conference. Her natural and individual manner and her human interest in every one captivated her audience as she told of the work of the state society. As food was the keynote of our war program she spoke of the government's recognition of the co-operation of the Garden clubs of the state of Missouri as well as of the clubs of the nation. She was very proud of splendid work in every department of the state and local societies.

Mrs. Powelson installed the new officers that had been elected earlier in the day and to each she presented a corsage the color of the flowers cleverly corresponding with the attributes of the office represented. Mrs. Leach, the newly elected regional director, was installed and her corsage was as Mrs. Powelson said, royal purple, symbol of leadership. She expressed hope for the success of her administration of the Garden club affairs of the 11 counties of the west central region.

The events of the day closed with a reception to the new officers with felicitations for the coming year.

M. U. Tigers Win 13-7 From Iowa State

It Wasn't Until Late In Game The Tigers Took Over The Lead

By L. E. Skelley

AMES, Ia., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Missouri's big Tigers, huffing and puffing for more than three quarters in unsuccessful attempts to effect a one-point disadvantage, broke loose with a 68-yard touchdown drive late in the game to drop Iowa State 13 to 7, today.

By victory in their first Big Six Conference football game the Tigers established themselves as definite challengers to Oklahoma's defending champions, and likewise crushed Iowa State's title hopes.

Plagued by fumbles and unable to crack a stubborn Iowa State defense, the Tigers didn't bruise through to their victory until only 2½ minutes were left. Then they hit hard.

Iowa State, with fourth down and four to go on the Missouri 40, was a yard shy of a first down. Leonard Brown, Missouri quarterback, rambled to the Iowa State 17 on the first play and six plays later halfback Lloyd Brinkman plunged over from the two yard line. Husky Jim Kekeris placed-kicked the extra point for the Tiger victory.

The late Missouri touchdown restored a lead the Tigers had lost early in the first period when Gene Phelps, Iowa State field director, intercepted a pass and sprinted 50 yards for a touchdown and a 10-0 lead.

Phelps' spurt, the Tigers had scored shortly after the opening kickoff on a 51 yard run and lateral pass play. Brown ripped through 11 yards and then tossed to Brinkman who outdistanced Cyclone pursuers in the chase to the goal. Kekeris missed his first try for point after touchdown, as he did three other touchdowns from the field.

Iowa State's touchdown was its only offensive threat after the first quarter. That one point lead, however, loomed large as the final minutes ticked away. Then came the fourth down gamble. It failed and backfired just as did an Iowa State fourth down pass in the unexpected time with Kansas a week ago.

It was a rugged bitter battle between two highly keyed teams. Phelps, center, Jim Riding, and tackle Jim Pusch of Iowa State suffered leg injuries but were able to return to duty.

Bill Dellastious made his first start of the season for the Tigers. The clever halfback left the game in the first period limping on his injured ankle but returned at intermittent periods to demonstrate that he will be a big help to Missouri in remaining contests.

Statistically, the Tigers also had an edge on the Cyclones, piling up 351 net yards by rushing compared with 175 by the light Iowa State backs. Missouri also was superior in the air with 34 yards gained in eight attempts to 54 by the Cyclones in 19 throws.

National Foresters Elect T. S. Goodyear

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The National Association of State Foresters today elected T. S. Goodyear, state forester of Washington, as president at the closing session of their 23rd annual convention.

Goodyear, who succeeds Perry Merrill, Vermont state forester, said the states "are fully prepared to offer comprehensive forestry work projects if and when it may become necessary for the government to establish work relief programs."

The Association adopted a four-point forestry program calling for the extension of fire control of all forest lands, fuller utilization of secondary woods, better management of state and private timberlands and endorsement of continued state and federal cooperation in fire control and reforestation.

Lift Wartime Ban At Bagnell Dam

LAKE OZARK, Mo.—Pole and line fishermen may drop their hooks near Bagnell Dam next Monday for the first time since Pearl Harbor. The State Conservation Commission recently announced that the wartime ban on hunting and fishing within 200 yards of the dam would be lifted effective October 15.

The same restriction also was in force for Powersite Dam of Lake Taneycomo in southwestern Missouri, and also was rescinded effective Oct. 15. This leaves the two hydro-electric dams under the same regulation applying to all other dams in the state. This regulation limits fishing within 75 yards below the dams to use of a single pole and line held in the hand, and then only from May 30 to December 31.

State To Study Missouri's Deer

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The Missouri Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit announced today that the study of deer weights, age, measurements and general conditions begun in 1944 will be continued this year during the open season Nov. 1, 2 and 3.

Working on the theory that a regular check-up on factors indicating the condition of the deer herd is fully as important as keeping tabs on its numbers, Research Unit biologists stated that this study is being made a regular part of the open season proceedings. Dr. Paul D. Dalke, in charge of the study, stated that technicians from the Conservation Commission and the Research Unit would be placed at checking stations established by the Commission's protection division, to make examinations of all deer coming through these stations.

Successful hunters interested in finding out what the buck weighed, how old he was, and what his measurements and general condition are, can find this out in a few minutes by seeing that their deer is examined by one of the technicians, Dalke said.

The largest buck weighed at one of these stations last year was a 262-pound, 8-point beauty taken in Dent County, Dalke said.

O'Connor And Graham Meet Tuesday Night

Estep Comes Back To Meet Dick Lever In The Semi-Windup

WRESTLING CARD
Main Event
Don O'Connor vs. Roy Graham
Boston, Mass. vs. Dallas, Tex.
Two out of three falls—90 minutes limit.
Semi-Windup
Marshall Estep vs. Dick Lever
Sturgeon, Mo. vs. Nashville, Tenn.
Two falls out of three—45 minutes limit.
Preliminary
Ken Fenelon vs. Ralph Garibaldi
Dubuque, Iowa vs. St. Louis, Mo.
One fall—30 minutes time limit.
Place: State Guard Armory.
Time: 8 p.m., Tuesday night.

Don O'Connor, Boston, Mass., the fast working wrestler who pinned Jerry Meeker of Columbus, Ohio, to the mat in two straight falls last week, is appearing on the Pettis County Post No. 16 American Legion wrestling show Tuesday night, meeting Roy Graham of Dallas, Texas. O'Connor, a huge Irishman, appears to be the man who equals Graham in size, and especially in talent and experience.

For the semi-windup on the card, the promoters will bring together Marshall Estep, Sturgeon, Mo., a local favorite to meet Dick Lever, Nashville, Tenn., whose appearance last week indicated he is "up on his wrestling education." This match should be a real entertainer for the fans.

Ken Fenelon, Dubuque, Iowa, who fell victim of Graham last week is meeting a new comer to the Sedalia ring in Ralph Garibaldi, St. Louis, who is noted in the St. Louis ring as the heavyweight champion in Missouri. This match should be packed full of wrestling action, and Fenelon hopes to hold his position on the local card for a few more weeks, while Garibaldi is making a bid for a Sedalia "spot."

Last week local fans were well entertained by the mat men, and all three matches were like "old times," filled with excitement, and real wrestling entertainment. Both Lever and O'Connor displayed some new holds and applied them in such a manner that it pleased the wrestling going customers.

Graham, who has made himself more a villain than Ray Eckert of California, Mo., who was here last winter, does not hesitate in getting plenty rough with his opponent. O'Connor is much the same type of wrestler but also is well informed on what holds will make an opponent give up.

Practice For Thinclads To Start Monday

The Gliders moved the opening date of their cage season up another notch when they scheduled the famous Phillip's 66 Oilers October 31. The Oilers, National AAU champs more times than we can remember, and the Gliders will face each other in a benefit game at Coffeyville, Kas.

The proceeds of this game, above actual expenses, will be used for the United Welfare Campaign which will be on at that time.

Practice will begin Monday night for the Glider squad and all members are urged to contact T/Sgt. McConnell at the base gym. Several veterans are expected to answer for the opening drills and any new men are asked to turn out.

The Gliders won 30 and dropped only five contests during the 1944-45 season. A strong team will be on hand again this year for the ensuing schedule which will run through March, 1946. Road trips East, South and West are being laid out for the Blue and Gold clad hoopers of SAAFLD.

Hubbard High Loses To Douglas 0 to 25

The C. C. Hubbard high school football team, Friday night, was defeated by the Douglas high school eleven from Lexington, Mo. 25 to 0. Ralph Jones, Lexington, thrilled the football fans when he took the ball on an intercepted pass and ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

The visitors scored once in the second quarter, twice in the third quarter and again in the fourth quarter. Two scores were made on pass interceptions, and the other two on line plays for about ten yards.

Sedalia will journey to Lexington on October 25 for a return game with Douglas.

Sport Scraps

(By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

ANY number of times I have written in this column, that if anyone has a gripe to make or some favorable comment to pass regarding sports, to write a letter but sign his or her name and I can contact the party writing the said letter for verification, and it would be given consideration.

The past week I have received two letters one which gave some interesting data on the proposed Recreational Center, and another which had umpires on the pan. I am not giving any mention to the latter, because the parties should have backbone enough to put his or her "John Henry" on the line.

A short time ago ballots on the Recreational Center and Smith-Cotton building were sent to those persons receiving the there are some who want a Memorial building, but their votes are overwhelmed by those desiring to see the Recreational Center for a memorial.

Those service men and women who have returned home and have been discharged and those who are home on leave and furlough can go to the Chamber of Commerce office in Sedalia and vote their feelings. Each on or you is entitled to cast a ballot and it is your memorial so you should cast the ballot for the one which you would like to see built.

THE Office of Surplus Property of the Government has announced duck, pheasant and other small game hunters will have plenty of 12-gauge shotgun shells on hand this fall. But it seems to me the announcement is almost a hair-line decision, because this ammunition wasn't made available until Saturday, and it is going to take time to get it moved to dealers.

The ammunition being sold is of the standard commercial type used by hunters and includes both "bird shot" and "buckshot". The major quantity of shells are loaded with "birdshot" or 1½ ounce No. 8 chilled shot, with standard powder load of 3 drams. The remainder are loaded with 00 buckshot (9 pellets) long-range powder load or 3.34 drams.

Here are the prices: Wholesaler $25.93 per 1000 shells; Chain and Mail Order houses $26.32 per 1000 shells; $32.41 per 1000 shells retailers. These prices are on "birdshot" shells. OPA ceiling price per box $10.7, box of 25.

On the shells loaded with "buckshot" the prices are: Wholesaler $33.42; Chain and Mail Order houses $36.76; and Retailer $41.78, all prices quoted per 1000 shells. Price per box OPA ceiling is $1.38, box of 25 shells.

Those interested can contact the Government agency at 2605 Walnut street, Kansas City.

SENATOR A. B. "Hap" Chandler, baseball's new Commissioner is having his troubles in putting down rumors. During the series it got out that he was feuding with the baseball clubs and their heads, as well as the heads of the two Major Leagues.

The heads of the two Leagues denied any troubles of any importance, other than "routine business", and Commissioner Chandler likewise denounced any feuding after the Series and he had returned to his home in Kentucky.

I can well remember how they used to say Judge Kenshaw Mountain Landis was feuding and having troubles, but the grand old man of baseball had the respect of every League head, as well as the team officials down to the bat boy.

So "Hap" needn't worry about rumors, they are always to be had and will be had as long as somebody has the "headman" job.

THE Junior Legion and Sedalia Merchants baseball series from now on should attract a large crowd. Today's game is the second of the series and the Merchants already have one game tucked in their belt a 2 to 0 victory of last week.

QUAIL are coming to town. At least that's the report made Saturday night by Jack Bard, Fifth street and Massachusetts avenue, who called at the Democrat-Capital office, and gave the following account.

"I was working in my yard when I heard a sound like quail. Being somewhat of a quail caller I called to them. I received an answer and then I saw the two quail beside the curb. A car passed and they flew into my garden and stayed around awhile.

"Later I went down town and told a friend about this and he replied, 'that's nothing, two quail walked into the Engle Motor Co., last week and paid the boys in the shop a visit', so there must be several birds in the residential district on the east side," Mr. Bard reported.

William Homes of Squadron D, runner-up, congratulates Stanley Fistic, Squadron B, the new men's singles champion for this year's edition of SAAFLD tennis tournament. He defeated Holmes in the finals, 12-14, 16-14 and 12-10.

Second Game Of City Series This Afternoon

Merchants Defeated Jr. Legion In First Game Last Week 2-0

The second game of the series for the city championship between the Sedalia Merchants and the American Legion clubs will be played this afternoon on the Liberty Park diamond.

Weather permitting the game will get under way promptly at 2:30 p.m. with "Potts" Evans calling the balls and strikes.

This game should prove to be another thriller for the fans, who have awaited this series all season. Last Sunday's game, which was won by the Merchants by a score of 2 to 0, was one of the most thrilling games played on the local diamond this year.

Manager Nichols of the Merchants has announced that "Lefty" Hal Green, will be on the mound receiving Green last Sunday in the four and two-thirds innings he worked allowed only 1 hit, struck out 5 of the Legion boys and issued two passes. In the fifth inning he was relieved by Gus Shirley, veteran relief hurler, who allowed 2 hits, struck out 4 and issued 1 base on balls the remainder of the game.

Manager Bill Walker of the Legion club stated last night that both "Lefty" Cooney and Gene May, right hander, were ready but who would get the first call would not be determined until game time. Both boys hurled in last Sunday's game, allowing 7 hits between them and 1 run each. Cooney being the losing pitcher.

The Legion and Merchants have played some excellent ball this season and this fact was demonstrated in last Sunday's game and another large crowd is expected to be on hand when the "play ball" cry is heard to start the second game of this series.

Starting line-up for the Merchants, as announced by Manager Nichols will be: Light, ss; Livengood, 1b; Ellsworth, 2b; Morris, 3b; Shirley, cf; Williams - Thomas, lf; Evans, rf; Norman, c, and Green, p.

For the Legion: Livengood, lf; Tuggle, 2b; Thomas, ss; Schumacher, cf; J. Walters, cf; R. Walker, lf; Rodgers, rf; Cooney or May, p; May or R. Waters 3b.

L. H. Addington, secretary of the National Association of Baseball Leagues, will attend the meeting.

Wichita U. Skins CMSTC Mules 25-0

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Wichita University Shockers, scoring in three periods, skinned the Central Missouri Teachers college Mules 25-0 today before 3,500 fans who watched most of the loosely played game in the rain.

Linwood Sexten, colored back, scored three of the Shockers' touchdowns, one a snake-hipped dash from the Mules' 40 yard line and another from the 15 after he had intercepted a Teachers' pass attempt and returned it to the 14 yard line.

Rex Beal, freshman back, hit through center from the one yard line for Wichita's fourth time across. Lester Watts made only one kick good.

The Mules were able to kick their way within 14 yards of the Shockers goal but once as they played a defensive game for most of the sixty minutes. Fumbles and penalties set them back heavily and Wichita was moving them steadily back up the field as the game ended.

Fighting Irish Easily Crush Dartmouth

Notre Dame Uses Fifty Players And 35,000 See Game

By Jerry Lisika

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, using 50 players, easily won their third straight victory today, crushing a completely outclassed Dartmouth eleven, 34-0.

Six West Point scouts, observing what the Army can expect from the Irish Nov. 10, got only a quick peek at Notre Dame's varsity, who rammed across two first period touchdowns on passes and then retired in favor of virtually the entire Irish squad.

Thirty-five thousand fans saw the game.

Dartmouth's big green faded to an emerald on the game's very first play when sharp-shooting Frank Danciewicz wheeled a 69-yard touchdown pass to Phil Cojella. Sub fullback Stan Krivik drop-kicked the point and the procession of five Irish touchdowns was on.

The Irish, who outgained Dartmouth, 334 yards to 90, also struck through the air for their second touchdown midway in the first period. Danciewicz tossed a 14 yard pass to end Bob Skoglund, who snared the ball on Dartmouth's three and rambled across the goal line. Krivik fumbled on the point try.

Charlie Grimm Given Warm Welcome Home

UNION, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The vanquished came home to a victor's welcome today as his fellow Missourians opened their hearts to Charlie Grimm, head man of the National League champion Chicago Cubs.

Jolly Cholly, once again his jovial self after a hectic week of disappointing baseball, pranced down the main street on his own horse to the approving cheers of several thousand citizens in a parade headed by the high school band and featuring the Union Saddle Club.

Following the parade, headline event of "Charlie Grimm Day," the Chamber of Commerce presented the Chicago manager, who lives on a nearby farm in the winter, with a set of sterling silver for himself and his wife.

Grimm, short on words for one of the few times in his career, told the jammed Memorial Auditorium crowd, "I'm sure glad to be home again. I hope that I can find a first-rate ball player around here to take back with me next year."

Army Wins 28-7 Over Michigan

Blanchard And Davis Run 68 and 70 Yards For Touchdowns

By Hugh Fullerton

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The speed and power of Glenn Davis and Felix (Doc) Blanchard, plus perfect execution of the plays that shook them loose for long touchdowns runs, carried Army to a 28 to 7 victory over Michigan's smart and speedy football team today.

Blanchard ran 68 yards for one of the touchdowns that sent the Wolverines down to their second defeat in five games this season while Davis sprinted 70 yards for the final Army score.

A crowd of 70,000 at Yankee stadium saw the Cadets meet their first real test in three games this season, and they didn't meet it any too well. Except for Davis and Blanchard, Army's 1944 All-America stars, and occasionally Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, formerly of Mississippi State, Army's backs couldn't gain consistently. Their passing was ineffective and defensively they were in constant trouble from the tricky, speedy Wolverine attack.

The Cadets' payoff punches both came on the first play after Army had taken the ball. There wasn't a Michigan tackler on his feet when Blanchard burst through the line and set off downfield for the second Army tally midway through the second period. In the last quarter Davis swung around his right end with plenty of interference, put on a dazzling burst of speed and outran the Wolverine secondaries in a straightaway sprint.

The other Army touchdowns were scored by McWilliams on a seven yard end run just about two minutes before Blanchard's dash. The big fullback also blasted thru for a few inches and another six-pointed in the third after McWilliams had set it up.

Right at the start, Army had another score called back when Tucker uncorked a pass to Davis on the fourth play to go a total of 60 yards. The Cadets were detected holding and were given a 15-yard penalty instead of a touchdown. Trailing 14-0 at the half, Michigan began shooting the works with its passes and trick plays in the third quarter and scored on an uninterrupted march the length of the field.

Smithton Hornets Play At Marshall

The Smithton Hornets will journey to Marshall this afternoon to meet the ball club of the Missouri State School, on the ball diamond in Indian Hills park. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Marshall team has played a full schedule of games this season and should be a real test for the undefeated Hornets. The team has as its pitcher Jack Neville, formerly with the Kansas City Blues, now employed at the school.

Smithton's team has a great hitting outfit this fall and the extra base power has paid dividends in every game thus far. This may be the last scheduled game for the Hornets this season.

Next Sunday at Smithton the "Young" men will meet a team of the "Old" men, a game which was an annual affair until war interrupted the Hornets baseball playing. An age limit of 23 years will divide the teams.

Trains With all Features of Ocean Liners Will Provide Cross-country Cruises by Rail

New "living room" cars like this Pullman will offer easy-chair comfort to travellers on proposed cross-country rail cruises. Combinations of boat, bus and train travel will be offered to vacationers.

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—There's something new and novel coming up for vacationers next year. It's a two-week cross country house party that has all the features of an oceanic cruise except the water.

Taking a tip from the successful pre-war ship cruises, travel agencies are planning similar land cruises aboard a crack stream-lined train equipped with every conceivable comfort and means of diversion.

Just as with cruise ships, the train will be used as a hotel at each stop, while the 300 or more travellers make motor sightseeing side trips. A special night club-recreation car has been designed to keep travellers amused enroute. Divided into two parts, the forward half is an ultra modern club car during the day and a supper club at night. The rear half is a lounge by day and a movie theater by night.

Cruise directors will see to it that there is never a dull moment. There'll be amateur night entertainments, dances, informal travelogues about places to be visited and introductions all around.

The cruise will start from Chicago and make stops at Colorado, Springs, Colo., the Indian Pueblo district, Santa Fe, N. M., and the Grand Canyon. At Los Angeles and San Francisco, where there'll be longer layovers, tourists will stay at a hotel. Then they'll continue on to Seattle, Vancouver, Portland and through the Canadian Rockies back to Chicago.

Trips Offered Now

The exact cost can't be estimated yet, but agencies say it will be in the neighborhood of $200 for the two-week tour. Nor is the starting date set, for transportation is still far from normal and all planned tours depend upon how soon additional carriers will be available.

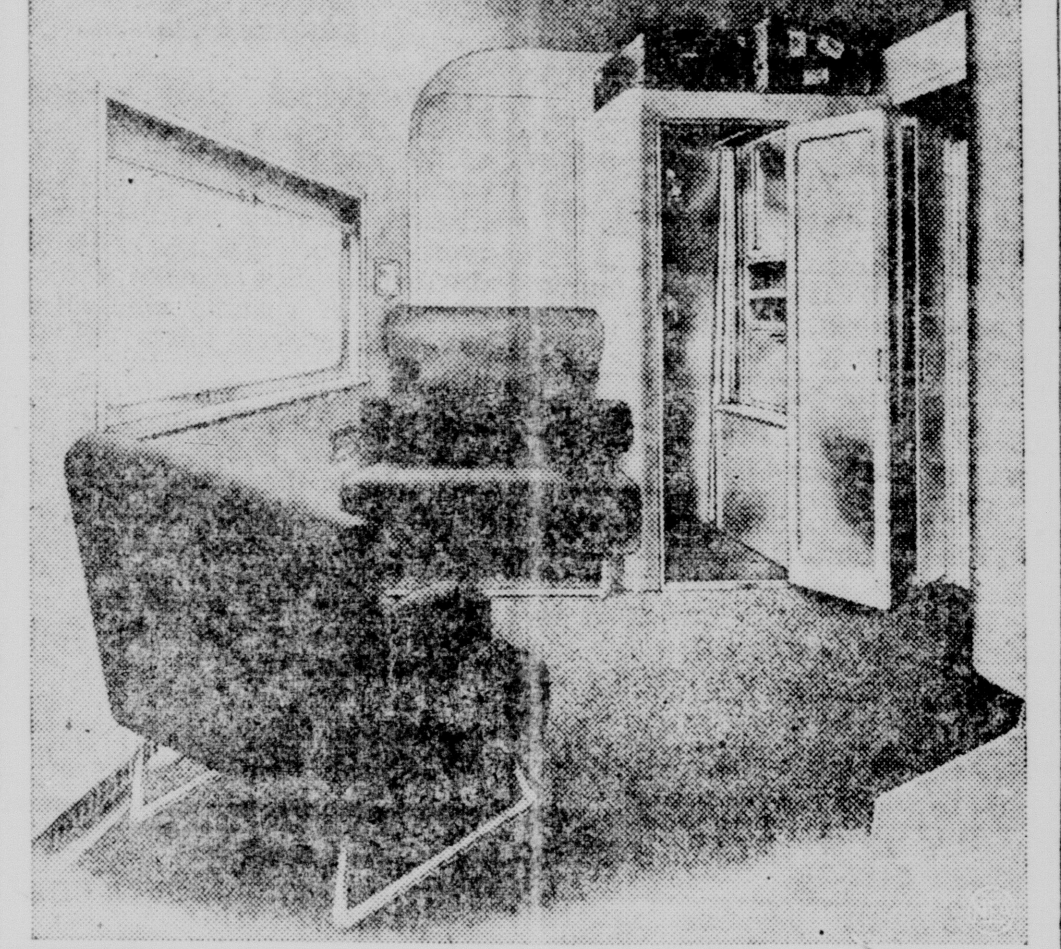

For those who want to take a trip now, however, the American Express has begun a weekly tour through Virginia. Starting by train from New York, it takes you to Baltimore, where you board a steamer for a trip down Chesapeake bay to Norfolk. Going by motor coach from that point, they take you on a five-day tour of Virginia Beach, Williamsburg, Richmond, Luray Caverns and the Skyline Drive and Shenandoah National Park.

Along the way there are stops to see the Natural Bridge cut through rock; Ashlawn, the home of James Monroe; Thomas Jefferson's home at Monticello, Charlottesville, Jamestown, the first settlement in the American colonies; and Yorktown, famous for the surrender of Cornwallis. Cost of the trip is expected to be less than $100.

In the hope that travel will be fairly normal this winter, tourist bureaus are going ahead arranging southern tours. Featured is a 10-day trip to the deep south for about $130. Going by train from Chicago or New York to Meridian, Miss., travellers switch to buses for a tour through Mobile, Bellinger Gardens and the Gulf Coast resort of Edgewater Park in Mississippi, then on to New Orleans for two days of sightseeing. Baton Rouge, Natchez and Vicksburg are visited on the way back to Meridian to board the train home.

Go South, Too

There'll be several other southern tours also. One will take you on a motor trip up and down both coasts of Florida with a week at Miami Beach. There's a 14-day trip planned from San Antonio to Mexico, taking in many more remote, colorful villages than would be seen travelling by train. Another 14-day trip will take tour-

Luxurious comfort for the railroad traveler is provided in double bedrooms like that above which are included in a new design for sleeping cars just announced by Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co. In half the rooms, six-foot, four-inch beds extend across the car. In the other half, they are placed lengthwise. Door in right background opens on shower bath, lavatory, toilet.

To the north, there's an eight-day trip planned from New York to Montreal by train, then a steamer to Quebec and a motor trip through the Gaspé Peninsula.

And now that "Is This Trip Necessary?" signs are coming down, you can go ahead and plan that pleasure trip with no conscience pangs.

Lt. Paul Bliss Back in States
With the return of the 43rd Infantry "Winged Victory" Division to the United States, 1st Lt. Paul F. Bliss, husband of Mrs. Mildred A. Bliss, 634 E. 5th St., Sedalia, Mo., is once more setting foot on American soil.
The 43rd Infantry (Winged Victory) division commanded by Major General Leonard F. Wing, Rutland Vt., came overseas in October 1942. Of all the Divisions in this United States Armed Forces, the 43rd alone traversed the whole length of the "Victory Road". In October 1942, the Division went to New Zealand, much to the relief of the New Zealanders because a Jap thrust toward the Island group was expected. From there, the 43rd went all the way to Tokyo, fighting and defeating the Japs in the Northern Solomons, New Guinea and in the Philippines.
Lt. Bliss was on the U. S. A. T. Coolidge when it sank in the New Hebrides, and also saw action in New Georgia, New Guinea and was attached to the Navy, flying from the "U. S. S. Wake Island", as an airborne observer during the Luzon Invasion, and he was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action during the Luzon Campaign.

Allies Will Join In Japan Occupation

Russian, British And Chinese To Join Americans

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 13—(AP)—Russian, British and Chinese troops will join Americans in the occupation of Japan, but there has been no official word from Washington as to the size of the Allied forces or the date of their arrival, an Allied headquarters spokesman said Friday.

Discussions about the incoming troops have "been in the mill for at least 30 days," said the spokesman for Lt. Gen. Robert K. Sutherland, chief of staff to General MacArthur.

"We have received official word from Washington that they are coming, but have been waiting for Washington to announce the fact and details of the combined occupation of Japan."

He said it was up to Washington to decide the size of the respective Allied forces which will be sent here.

"We rather expect each country will send one division," the spokesman said. "After we know the size the supreme commander for the Allied powers will designate the respective zones of occupation. We expect to receive further details soon from Washington," he said.

GIs Get Hitler's Beer Hall

Beer mugs that once were used by the Nazis to toast Hitler, now hold coffee for doughnut-dunking purposes, as pictured above. Munich beer hall that was the site of Der Fuehrer's 1923 putsch has been taken over by the Red Cross as a canteen for enlisted men and officers.

Retires From Railroad Work

James J. Hanrahan, 227 South Prospect avenue, Missouri Pacific engineer, retired from service after thirty-six years with the Missouri Pacific, running out of Sedalia.

Mr. Hanrahan has been an engineer twenty years. When he first entered the employ of the railroad the insurance companies considered railroading such hazardous business that they would not insure him, but Mr. Hanrahan thinks he would have been a mighty good risk. When he retired on October 1, he had completed thirty-six years with the Missouri Pacific and a few years previous to that with another road, without even a scratch.

Mr. Hanrahan was born and reared in Pettis county and has lived many years in Sedalia.

Mrs. Ernest Schupp told of her trip to Corpus Christi, Tex., and displayed Mexican scarves, table cloths and souvenirs.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ernest Schupp and Mrs. Lewis Zumsteg, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Broderson and Mrs. Gus Wear.

Report on Hot Lunch Program

Reports by chairmen of various business committees were given at a meeting of Salem Parent-Teacher association Friday evening, which was presided over by Mr. Roberts.

Mrs. George Holman gave a brief account of the hot lunch program, which is proving satisfactory in the school.

Mrs. E. L. Birdsong presented the following program:

Piano solo, Miss Jean Summers, of Sedalia; reading, "Betty at the Basketball Game," Miss Challis Johnson; speech, "The Schools of Yesterday and Today," Judge Dimmitt Hoffman.

Mrs. Sim Bake and Mrs. Jack Ellison served refreshments.

Clifton City Club Meeting

Mrs. Oscar Dove was hostess to a recent all-day meeting of the Clifton City Homemakers club. Mrs. W. L. Smith, of Otterville, and Mrs. Hubert Aggler, son and daughter, of Pilot Grove, were guests.

A contributive lunch was served at noon.

Favorite poems were recited in answer to roll call.

As no special program had been planned, arrangements were made for Achievement Day, November 2, in Boonville. Mrs. W. L. Smith joined the club, bringing the membership up to 27 persons. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Oliver Bridges; vice president, Mrs. G. V. Streit; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. F. S. Needy; reporter, Mrs. Johnnie Streit; parliamentarian, Mrs. William Todd; song leader, Mrs. Add Johnson; game and child development leader, Mrs. Ernest Schupp. A vote of thanks was given the out-going president, who served faithfully the past three years.

The next meeting will be the first Wednesday in November at the home of Mrs. Susie Todd.
